- Where we process your personal information it may be held by New Brewery Arts Ltd or by trusted third party companies which processes it on our behalf

5. How we store your personal information

The data that we collect from you will be securely stored and processed in the United Kingdom and may be transferred to, processed or stored at a trusted third-party destination within Europe or USA.

Where your data is stored and processed by a third party we have contracts in place to ensure that the data is afforded the same protections as it would be if it were hosted in the United Kingdom and in line with the requirements of the UK Data Protection Act 2018 and EU GDPR legislation.

6. How long we keep your information

We retain your personal information for as long as it is needed for the purposes it was collected. In some cases we must retain personal data in order to meet our legal obligations for reporting (for example, retaining financial records for up to seven years).

When your information is no longer required we will delete it securely.

We may retain information about customers whose conduct has been anti-social or breached our policies, for the purpose of restricting those customers' future use of our services.

7. How we keep your information safe

We follow good security practices (including appropriate technical and organisational measures) in the processing, storage and disclosure of information which you have given us.

We use a range of information security safeguards to keep your personal information secure, including but not restricted to the following:

- Connections between internal systems and the internet are protected by firewalls;
- data in transit is encrypted to industry standard
- access to systems and data is protected by user-id and password controls, and employees can only access the data they need in order to perform their job;
- your payment card data is always encrypted;
- offices and secure areas are protected with physical access controls;

- we continually monitor our systems for vulnerabilities and signs of attack, and carry out penetration tests regularly to assess the strength of our defences;
- we enforce physical, electronic and procedural safeguards in connection with the collection, storage and disclosure of personal information; and
- before divulging your personal information in response to a telephone call or email enquiry, we ask you for proof of identity in order to ensure that we do not provide your personal information to someone else.

8. Information about young people

We welcome children and young people to our accommodation and to our online services, and we take extra care when handling information about young people. However, our online bookings, membership, donation and purchasing services are not intended for users aged 16 years and over, so please do not use these if you are under 16 years old.

The age a child can give consent varies - it is 13 years of age in the United Kingdom and up to 16 years in some EU Countries. If you provide information to us about children, then you confirm that you are the parent or legal guardian, or have the consent of the parent or legal guardian if they are below the age where they can give consent independently.

9. CCTV

We use Closed Circuit Television (CCTV) at our property, and you may be recorded when you visit. We use CCTV in order to help protect New Brewery Arts guests, employees and visitors, and to protect New Brewery Arts' premises from criminal activities. CCTV footage will only be viewed when necessary - for example to detect a crime.

We comply with the ICO's Code of Practice on the use of CCTV.

10. Disclosing your information to other organisations

We may use trusted third parties to process your information on our behalf and when we do, appropriate data privacy contracts and clearly defined processing, storage and retention instructions will be in place. We will only transfer your personal information on the understanding that the third party has undertaken to us that they have in place adequate technical and organisational measures to protect that information.

We may release your information to the police or other authorities where we are under a legal obligation to do so, or where doing so is in your vital interests.

We may engage with trusted third parties to analyse data about our customers, supporters and website users in order to provide us with greater insight into customer and supporter behaviour for the purpose of informing future developments.

We may also provide anonymous statistics to reputable third parties for the purpose of analysis. These statistics will not include any personal information.

11. Your rights

You may, at any time:

- Ask us what information we hold about you and what we are doing with it
- Request copies of the information we hold about you
- Ask us to correct your information if it is inaccurate
- Request that we delete your information
- Ask us to change the way we process your information
- Object to our processing of your information
- Change how we communicate with you

Requests in writing (email or post) can be sent to the address below. You will be required to prove your identity before a personal data request is actioned.

If you want to unsubscribe from New Brewery Arts emails, you will find an unsubscribe link on the footer of our emails. A link is also provided to our email preference centre, which allows you to determine what kind of content you want to receive from New Brewery Arts Ltd in the future.
